Stretching out from the beautiful Barrington Tops foothills is the breathtaking Yeranda property – 57 hectares of unspoilt Australian bushland. Hosts Ros and Kevin have created a sanctuary for native animals (officially a wildlife refuge) and for holidaymakers who long to run away from everyday life and unwind in this patch of paradise.

The three rustic hand-crafted cottages are each tucked into their own private pocket ensuring seclusion (perfect for enjoying the uniquely decadent outdoor shower for two). And to ease your carbon conscience, solar panels and passive design have been utilised. Nearby, the five-bedroom Noonameena Homestead is perfect for group get-togethers, and Kevin has even built two cute toddler beds for the under-sixes in the party.

Gather the family around your own private camp fire, marvel at the Milky Way and take the time to enjoy some conversation without any interruptions. And if a small wedding is on the horizon, why not escape tradition and elope to Yeranda – and bring your friends with you? There's enough space for everyone at these two properties.

Location: 220km or three hours northeast of Sydney. Map 16. RA 27 C11.

Facilities: Three self-contained cottages (one to three bedrooms) all with lounge area (wood fire), full kitchen, bathroom, camp fire, BBQ. One five-bedroom homestead (sleeps up to 12) with two lounge rooms (wood fires), dining, full kitchen; AC. Self-catering.
